Proceedings:

Main discussion today was around representation of example individuals (we raised an issue) for some of the indices and indicators, to show users how to create them, for example, for a particular value of an indicator such as unemployment rate as published in a specific report on a specific day.

We also looked at the content currently published in master and found some issues that need to be addressed asap with respect to duplication of various kinds - labels, isDefinedBy duplicates, and many duplicates that were pointed out in Elisa's report remain, especially in cases where there are ext references that should have been replaced with the proper references in FBC or SEC/Securities or some of the classes added to FND for products and services.
